Just as our students the members of the representation of old and grumpy students know everything already. That's why we do not need any kind of training.

2.5 Recruiting of new members

To ensure the continuation of the tremendous work done by us, the representation of old and grumpy students, we increasingly encouraged students of a certain duration of their study activity to join us. As we despise the extended use of technology we do this by actually talking to those people either in person or on land-line phones.
